

05/15/09 - Integrated Social Networking Solutions

The top social networking sites like MySpace, FaceBook, Twitter and others are gaining speed, and are proving to be an invaluable and often indispensible to a successful internet presence.

I am a fan of social networking and have used MySpace, Facebook and Twitter since their early days, having customised many profiles during this time. I also have an array of tools that can be integrated into your own website to tie your domain and your social networking pages together in a coherent and useful way, providing a better and richer experience to the visitors to any of your pages.

To find out more, please contact me.