

07/07/09 - Mongol Rally 2009: Four teams choose me to design and manage their websites

Bharat Express are entering four cars in the Mongol Rally 2009, a journey from the UK to Mongolia. The teams are raising money for charities including Mercy Corps Mongolia and Christina Noble Children's Foundation.

The organiser of the event (The Adventurists) provide each team with a basic website with a blog and other features. However Bharat Express were not happy with the look of these sites, and so appointed me to design a template to work with the organisers systems, and to advise and assist with other IT related matters.

The new look sites will be ready in a couple of days.
